GGL reports on activities for the year ended Nov. 30, 2007

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Canada – Raymond A. Hrkac, President and CEO of GGL Diamond Corp. (TSX-V: GGL) has reported on the activities of the Company for the year ended Nov. 30, 2007 and on events taking place subsequently, up to March 17, 2008.

In his Letter to Shareholders, Mr. Hrkac described the past year as both “exhilarating and frustrating” and as a year in which the Company set a course he believes “will produce the best returns for our shareholders”.

During fiscal 2007, the Company incurred exploration expenses on its mineral properties of $1,431,837, 48% less than the previous year.

Below are highlights from the year-end report, available in full on the new GGL website (www.ggldiamond.ca) and on SEDAR:

- 2007 exploration work on the Providence Greenstone Belt (PGB) in the Northwest Territories confirmed the potential not only for magmatic nickel, but also for gold and polymetallic volcanogenic massive sulfide deposits (VMS). As an example, a grab sample taken on the PGB from a poorly exposed rusty sulfide exposure containing arsenopyrite assayed 22 gm/tonne (0.64 oz/ton) Au.
- Reconnaissance mapping on the PGB showed that the potential for komatiite-hosted nickel and copper mineralization within the belt is much more extensive than was originally thought.
- During the 2007 exploration season, 1,647 rock, soil and lake sediment samples were collected; these results are helping to direct the 2008 PGB exploration program, which has begun (March 2008) with a geophysical survey on areas of the PGB not previously surveyed.
- Early in 2008, an additional 76,020 acres were staked in areas adjoining the PGB, bringing the total of GGL's 100%-owned PGB claim area to 428,879 acres.
- The Company continues to explore how to proceed on its promising diamond properties in the NWT for the benefit of shareholders.
- Following receipt of the NI 43-101 report filed in September 2007, the Company is embarking on a $1+ million exploration program on the Company's McConnell Creek gold/copper property in BC.
- Having raised over $4 million in a non-brokered private placement of flow-through shares at the end of 2007, the Company is proceeding with geophysical surveying on the PGB and has plans to drill the property in August 2008.

Mr. Hrkac also noted in his Report that although the market does not currently recognize the value of GGL's projects and opportunities, “we have confidence we are well positioned for 2008 and for the coming years.”
